About me:

Dustin Watts is an entrepreneur, outdoor enthusiast, and proud husband & dad who believes deeply in the power of community. He spent more than two decades helping grow Terrapin Beer Company, most recently as President, where he learned firsthand how meaningful connections are built around shared experiences, hard work, and a good drink with friends.

Today, Dustin is a partner in Weevil Outdoor, an adventure-driven apparel brand and community hub rooted in getting outside, giving back, and bringing people together, from trail rides to taproom conversations. Whether he's riding bikes with his wife & kids or creating spaces for families to connect, Dustin is passionate about using business as a force for good.

Dustin is proud to support Project Safe and its vital mission to empower survivors and build safer, stronger families throughout Athens. He's grateful to stand alongside a community that shows up for one another and to dance for a cause that truly changes lives.
